

HOUSING ELEMENT

PURPOSE

This Housing Element provides the policy basis for directing the development of new housing that is compatible with the character of the city. The Housing Appendix provides further information describing the inventory and analysis of housing and forecasts future demands as well as implementation strategies for achieving the goals.

1. The Growth Management Act states that the Housing Element of the Comprehensive Plan must recognize "the vitality and character of established neighborhoods" and must provide that it:
 2. Includes an inventory and analysis of existing and projected housing needs.
 3. Includes a statement of goals, and policies for the preservation, improvement, and development of housing.
 4. Identifies sufficient land for housing, including, but not limited to government-assisted housing, housing for low-income families, manufactured housing, multifamily housing, and group homes and foster care facilities.
 5. Makes adequate provisions for existing and projected needs of all economic segments of the community.

Orting single family residences.

As Orting grows, and new residents arrive, new neighborhoods are created and existing neighborhoods change. This results in different expectations for the character of the city. In addition, the demand and supply of housing types and styles broadens as the market adapts to the demographics of the population. In order to address these factors, the Comprehensive Plan provides the basis for monitoring development trends and assessing the city's capacity to accommodate future growth.

The supply of vacant land that is suitable for residential development is limited. Critical areas such as the floodways, wetlands and the shoreline areas inhibit development capacity along the rivers. Development of the remaining vacant - and former farmland - inside the city will result in the loss of visual open spaces, but will maintain the single-family character of the community. Some future growth within the city will depend upon infill development and redevelopment of parcels that are not built to their full capacities. This type of development usually results in higher density.

MAJOR ISSUES

In formulating the Element, the following major issues have been considered:

1. Balancing the rural character vision with the satellite rural town center role.
2. Providing a balanced range of housing types, styles, and affordability.
3. Providing opportunities for housing for its citizens with special needs.
4. Addressing the conservation of existing housing.
